BIG METEOR SHAKES UP THE CITY

Blazing Heavenly Visitor Strikes Sandia Mountains With Thud Plainly Felt in Albuquerque.

SEARCHING PARTIES OUT LOOKING FOR IT

A meteor, blazing like a skyrocket, hit the north peak of the Sandia mountains last night about 7:40 o'clock with an impact terrific enough to cause a small sized earthquake in Albuquerque, every house in the city being shaken perceptibly, while the dull boom of the blow or explosion caused many to believe a big explosion of dynamite or a boiler had taken place.

The tremor of the earth was sufficient to cause doors and windows to rattle, to shake loose objects on shelves and the noise was heard even over the hum of traffic on the downtown streets. In some quarters it caused considerable alarm, people believing it to be an earthquake.

Half a dozen people have been found who saw a blaze of light like a shooting star or lightning flash above the mountains a moment or so before the detonation. Believers vary in locating the flash, placing it from Pina Canyon, fifteen miles northeast of this city, as far north as the mountain promontory just opposite Bernalillo and about 30 miles from here. At least one automobile partly saw the flash and heard the noise and spectators on the west end of the city who had an excellent view of the mountains, declare it was undoubtedly a meteor.

I. W. Gilchrist, who was sitting on the glass-enclosed east porch of the Werner ranch just southeast of the University, saw the light plainly and heard the noise. He reckoned the location at about Pina Canyon. "I saw the light, like that of a blazing red star," said Mr. Gilchrist today, "descend with great velocity to the crest of the mountains, appear to hesitate the fraction of a second and then disappear, a flare of light like that from a forest fire blazing up for a second after and disappearing."

Attorney H. P. Owen was walking east on Central avenue and saw the flash and heard the thud. He walked the distance over again this morning and figured 75 seconds between flash and detonation. On the theory that sound travels 1,100 feet a second, the location should be about fifteen miles distant or just about Pina Canyon.

That the phenomenon was chiefly an earth tremor is indicated by Roy A. Stamm, who was in the cellar of his home at the time and plainly felt the jar.

C. H. Crist, of the Matthews dairy, plainly saw what he says resembled a ball of fire shoot downward appear to hover for an instant and disappear at a point half way between Pina Canyon and the north end of the range, quickly followed by a boom.

Mr. Seignman of the Bernalillo Mercantile company at Bernalillo, when queried over the phone this morning, said that he neither saw the ball of fire nor heard the noise and had heard of no one in that vicinity who had.

THOUGHT END OF THE WORLD WAS DRAWING NEAR

"I am ready to admit that I was scared stiff," said W. L. Parsons of Santa Fe this morning. "When I saw that blinding streak of light and heard the meteor strike the mountain side," Parsons, with William E. Brown, a garage owner of Santa Fe, was coming to Albuquerque in an automobile. The meteor struck when they were just this side of Bernalillo.

"We were running at fair speed," said Parsons, "when our attention was attracted by the blaze of the meteor. We did not know what it was at first and were badly frightened as the light blazed up. When it struck the mountain side there was a brilliant flare. We thought some mine had blown up. Then came the roar and the quake which shook the automobile violently. Both Brown and myself thought at first that we had run into a ditch and were being stars.

"As I saw it, the meteor struck the west slope of the mountains almost in a line due east of Bernalillo. The No. 1 train passed us shortly after the big noise. We fully expected to see it go off the track."

INQUISITIVE CITIZENS LEAVES ON SEARCH

M. Nash and T. N. Linville left in an auto this morning to cruise along the west side of the mountains in an attempt to find where the meteor landed. The testimony of those who say they saw a flare as of burning woods when the meteor hit indicates that it hit in the timber. Numerous others announced their intention of going on the hunt for the visitor from interstellar space. Judging from its apparent size as viewed from this city it must have been big enough to make a tremendous hole in the ground. One theory is that the loud noise was partially caused by the impact of the meteorite, while but from his trip through the atmosphere, upon the deep snow which now covers the Sandias, a place ten and fifteen feet deep, resulting in an explosion.

Mr. Linville is especially interested because of the fact that he was once employed, he says, by a Phoenix man who tunneled to strike a meteor which buried itself near Kingman, Ariz., and took a fortune in iron and other metals out of it. It will be remembered that some years ago a company was also organized to drill for a meteor which hit the earth near the Canyon Diablo, Ariz., leaving a hole a mile wide and 100 feet deep, but nothing ever came of the venture.

Press dispatches only a few days since brought word of the alighting of a large meteor in western France.

REPUBLICANS ARE PLEASED WITH COMMITTEE

Restoration of Harmony Among Party Leaders Welcomed by the Rank and File.

Hundreds of Republicans in Albuquerque expressed themselves today as highly pleased with the result of yesterday's get together meeting of the long warring factions in Bernalillo county, and the restoration of harmony in the Republican ranks.

"Let the dead past bury its dead," said one active member of the rank and file today, who expressed what seems to be the universal feeling. "We have had all the party scrapping we need here in this country. It not only has defeated the Republican party, but it has destroyed Bernalillo county's political influence in the state and has done serious damage at times to the actual business interests and prosperity of the city.

"Now it appears all factions are united on a sound basis of common sense. I think that with this feeling on the part of the leaders, we of the rank and file will be found ready with unanimous approval."

Sheriff Jesus Romero, the new county chairman, today received many messages of congratulation by telephone and telegram from Republican leaders in other parts of the state who express enthusiastic satisfaction at the final settlement of party differences here.

Dinelli furnished bond in the sum of $500 and his preliminary hearing this morning was set for 2 o'clock Monday afternoon before United States Commissioner H. R. Whiting in the federal building.

The warrant for Dinelli was issued by Commissioner Whiting upon complaint of a special agent of the Indian service, who is said to have seen Padilla buy liquor in bottle and jug from Dinelli.

The Indian bureau has become more active than ever recently in watching the sale of liquor to the Indians and places suspected of selling to the natives are being closely watched. Numerous arrests have been made in northern New Mexico where extensive peddling is said to have been under way and at the coming term of United States court in Santa Fe, it is understood more than forty presentments will be made to the federal grand jury.

BOYS CONFESS TO STEALING OF SADDLES

Valuable Plunder Recovered and Enterprising Young Men Landed at Police Station by Chief Today

SAY THEY INTENDED TO PAY FOR THEM

Nathaniel and Marion Stone, 14 and 15 years old, respectively, and three valuable cowboy saddles formed exhibit A at the police station this afternoon. Saddles and boys were brought in shortly after noon by Chief of Police McMillin and Police-man Pablo Lujan from the home of the boys' parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Stone, who live about three miles north of the city. Mr. Stone senior is a well known employee of the Continental Oil company and the parents are considerably broken up over the boys' confession that they stole two of the saddles on the night of January 11 from the store of the Albuquerque Carriage company and a third saddle last night from a barn in the rear of the residence of William (P.) Wilson, corner of First street and Marquette avenue.

The boys surreptitiously called at the Wilson barn last night and, leaving one of their own saddles in exchange, carried off the one belonging to Mr. Wilson. He a curious coincidence Frank McCabe is now serving time in the penitentiary for the theft of this same saddle two years ago, Pablo Lujan recovering it at the Brown ranch on the mesa east of the city with some guns and other stuff stolen by McCabe.

The boys made their bad break in leaving their own saddle at the Wilson place. When the robbery was reported by Mr. Wilson, who is employed by the Farr Meat company, a man was found who identified the saddle left in exchange, and the chief and Lujan, accompanied by Wilson and Ed Farr, drove up to the Stone place, where after a little investigation they found the three saddles hidden in the hay and placed the boys under arrest. The mother being much shocked to find out what they had done. By clever excuses they had deceived her as to where they spent the time during which they effected the thefts. The two saddles belonging to the carriage company, which were identified this afternoon, are valued at about $65 each, and the Wilson saddle, while it has been used for several years, is a higher-priced one.

The boys had little to say about the matter except that they intended to pay for the saddles when they got the money. They are not bad looking boys. They admitted trying to get in the rear of the Carriage company establishment and then breaking in the plate glass window behind which the saddles were displayed.

The boys also admitted stealing the two bicycles which were found some time ago near the Harvard school to which place they rode the machines and there abandoned them. The saddles were accompanied by ropes and blankets which the boys had stolen. The boys' father is out of the city, the theft at the Carriage company having taken place the same night he left the city. Mr. Stone, senior, travels for the oil company.

The mother was making arrangements this afternoon to bail the boys out and they will likely have a hearing tomorrow. This appears to be a good case for the juvenile department of Judge Craig's court.

SUIT TO TEST THE EXEMPTION LAW FILED

(By Leased Wire to Evening Herald.) Santa Fe, N. M., Jan. 30.—To test the $200 exemption clause of the new tax law Jose Zamora of Santa Fe today filed suit in the district court here asking the court to order the tax rolls changed so that the $200 exemption provided by law would be taken from the one-third value on which taxes are paid, instead of the full value, as the assessor had done. The case will be carried to the supreme court and tax officials assert the results will be of vital interest to every tax payer in the state, especially the poorer ones. He also questions the validity of certain county and city levies totaling six and a half mills.
